

Homestead Expenses Log

Maintain a running record of your major supply purchases, costs, and suppliers to catch overspending and spot trends.

How to use: Write down each major supply purchase as it happens. Review weekly to watch for repeated or rising expenses.

What goes in each column

- 1. When did you purchase this?
- 2. What supply did you buy?
- 3. Where did you get it?
- 4. What amount or size did you purchase?
- 5. How much did it cost?
- 6. When do you expect to need this again?
- 7. What was the main reason for buying? (regular restock, emergency, discount, etc.)

If you bought hay bales last week, you'd note the date, item (hay), store, number of bales, total price, when you expect to need more (in weeks or months), and whether this was a routine restock or a last-minute stop.
